

108 businesses have accepted the challenge to tackle the climate crisis

»» learn more

THE Paris...
CLIMATE 10 years
PLEDGE Early

Challenge Accepted

Ipswich Star > News

Multi-million pound revamp of Ipswich Museum given green light

Jason Noble Local Democracy Reporter

Published: 7:00 PM June 30, 2021

Ipswich Museum will undergo a multi-million pound revamp. - Credit: Sarah Lucy Brown

Planning permission for a multi-million pound revamp of Ipswich Museum has been granted, paving the way for the second stage Heritage Lottery Fund bid.

Proposals for the HLF-backed improvements have been through several iterations, but on Wednesday morning secured unanimous approval from Ipswich Borough Council's planning and development committee.

Those plans will include ramps and a terrace for outdoor seating, repairs to boundary walls, new stairs and plant room, improved southern side facilities, new lift and staircase, café and new toilets.

The nature of the Grade II* Listed facility - which is effectively three separate buildings dating back to the 1880s, 1900s and the 1920s - has made access tricky for visitors and meant it has developed in an ad-hoc fashion.

Don't Miss

Assistant beaver leader caught with indecent images of children

Tom Potter

SPONSORED CONTENT
No time to eat healthy?
Here's how to in minutes

Presented by: Huel UK

'Out of control' Ipswich man caught with images showing abuse of young boys

Tom Potter

Pair stole 85 cans of tinned salmon from B&M in Ipswich

Tom Potter

Man threatened to set himself alight at garage after being refused beer

Michael Steward

Bosses say the revamp plans, which will be funded from £3m the council put aside several years ago alongside an HLF bid of £4.8m, will bring it up to date while respecting its Victorian heritage.

You may also want to watch:

Watch more local videos

Work on multi million pound heritage centre begins

Ipswich pub is revamped as The Halberd Inn

Ipswich Transport Museum Is Set To Reopen

James Steward, Ipswich Museum manager, said it was an ambitious proposal but significant.

ADVERTISING

"One of the first publicly-funded museums in the country, it's a purpose built museum of exceptional quality," he said, adding: "The need for development and the need for preservation has been widely acknowledged".

Most Read

▼ MORE

Man in his 30s stabbed in 'serious assault' in Ipswich

Sought-after Felixstowe beach hut sells for £88K

Community 'very shocked' by stabbing in Ipswich